There’s an old saying that “Every dog has his day,” and for Remi the Courthouse Dog, it was last Friday, when she had a joyful reunion with her former family.

“Last week, after three years of separation, Remi and her first family were able to reunite for a visit at Hancock County Youth Court,” Remi’s handler CASA of Hancock County Victim Services Coordinator Naomi Strawhorn said.

“I swear, Remi had tears in her eyes,” CASA Executive Director Cynthia Chauvin said.

The Sridhar family was overjoyed to see Remi last week, shedding joyful tears themselves.

“There were no dry eyes in the room when Remi

“Last week, Sridhar Ramalingam, his wife Chitra, and sons Nitin, 14, and Navin, 12, traveled from Florida to Mississippi to visit the same working dog that they brought into their family in early 2018,”

Strawhorn said. “Remi was bred by Canine Companions at their headquarters in Santa Rosa, CA. After eight weeks with a breeder caregiver, Remi trav-

Despite rain last week, crews made significant progress and are now ahead of schedule on the repair of the East Pearl River Bridge on I-10 W near the Louisiana state line.

The bridge repair project is necessary due to a vehicle strike and fire that occurred earlier this year. Damaged concrete railing has been removed and replaced with new railing.

Over the weekend, crews demolished a section of bridge deck in the right lane using hydro-demolition, a technique that utilizes very high-pressured water to remove concrete.

On Monday, crews poured new concrete decking in the

“She met with key Hancock County leaders for a focused luncheon. Later, Pierce presented the awards to the poetry competition winners at the 100 Men Hall and finally participated in a public discussion on Poetry of Place.”

“We are tremendously grateful for the visit to Bay St. Louis by Dr. Catherine Pierce,” Bay St. Louis Library Branch Manager Leah Holmes said. “To be able for our library system to host an acclaimed award-winning poet laureate, and to make these programs available to our community is a rare privilege. More than 150 people had an opportunity during events on Thursday and Friday at three different venues. And we truly experienced how poetry really can bring people together.”

“Pierce’s visit will long be remembered by all participants, and by Pierce herself - as this was her first ever visit to the Mississippi Gulf Coast,” Impson said.

Originally from Delaware, Pierce earned her B.A. from Susquehanna University, her M.F.A. from Ohio State University, and her Ph.D. from the University of Missouri. She is professor of English and co-director of the creative writing program at Mississippi State University.

Flag Retirement Program

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home works with local residents and the veterans services organizations to properly retire any U.S. flag that has reached the end of its service. Our program is designed to honor our national heroes, our military veterans, and to give dignity to our American Flag when it is no longer worthy of display. We strive to see that each veteran being cremated has a flag. There is no charge for this service to our veterans.

According to the United States code, Title 4, Chapter 1, Subsection 8: "The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning."

If you would like to honor a deceased veteran by donating an aged or worn flag to be properly disposed of, you may do so by delivering the flags to our funeral home located on the corner of Necaie Avenue and Main Street.

ROLLING WITH THE PUNCHES

My tentative summer plans with the nephew took quite a different turn.

We knew that Daddy’s surgery would be our priority, but what we didn’t fully expect were the numerous series of events that would occur after.

In addition, I was also sick for two weeks prior to Daddy’s procedure, so that didn’t help with the nephew and Cass Cass days.

I did get to take him to the GameStop store a couple of times so he could look around and spend his allotted funds. The staff at the GameStop are wonderful. I really appreciate them taking the time to interact with my nephew and listen to his questions.

He also told them that he is a “video game critic.” It was quite cute.

Lately, our nephew and Cass Cass days take place in the ICU waiting room at the hospital.

But, even though it’s not his or my ideal location, we still get to spend quality time together.

He talks to me about his video games, sometimes the entire car ride to New Orleans.

We have scoured the vending machines and cafeteria for snacks. He was also quite disappointed that I don’t carry cash all the time.

He also has this little “game” where he tries to annoy Cass Cass. He complained to his mom that I wasn’t getting annoyed.

I explained to him that after four years of working as a preschool teacher, I learned to ignore such attempts.

He’s a funny little guy with a big penchant for sarcasm, which I enjoy.

While I do know that he gets tired of sitting in a waiting room between visits, he has actually been a real trooper about all of it.

He loves his Paw Paw very much and has asked me several questions about what is going on and expressed to me how much he misses hearing his Paw Paw sing “You are so Beautiful,” or watching “The Three Stooges” together.

I hope that he learns a lesson about how life doesn’t always go as planned. We have to learn how to roll with the punches and adapt to whatever is happening.

Our emotions have been all over the place the past few weeks, but I hope the nephew has somewhat enjoyed our modified nephew and Cass Cass days. I have loved spending time with him.

I hope he learns that even though we aren’t necessarily doing things that are “fun,” that any time we get to spend together is important and should be cherished.

Hancock History: COUNTY COURTHOUSE

The first county seat of Hancock County was designated to be the located in the Choctaw Indian village which is presently the town of Caesar in the northwest corner. The Mississippi Territory was admitted into the Union in 1817, and in that year a log building was built in Center/Caesar to be a courthouse. In that era, most of the population of Hancock County lived in the Pearl River Valley, and all Indian trails led to Center.

In 1825, court for litigation was held in Pearl-ington from December to May and in Shieldsboro (Bay St. Louis) from June to November. However, the records such as land deeds were kept in the “courthouse” in Center. It was ironic that the court proceedings were not held in the “court-house.” In 1837, the county seat was moved to Gainesville, a thriving river town that was easily accessible by boat. Unfortunately, the courthouse in Gainesville burned down in 1853 with the loss of all land records.

Hancock County witnessed during the first half of the Nineteenth Century intense rivalry between Shieldsboro and Pearlington. In those days, Hancock County included the territory that is present-day Harrison, Stone, and Pearl River counties. Yet, most of the inhabitants lived next to the waterways or shoreline since the only practical means of travel or transport was by sailboat. There were no roads of any length or of any quality except perhaps for the Old Federal Road and the Old Pass Road between Biloxi and Pass Christian. The Old Federal Road was originally a horse path designed for “pony express” style mail delivery between Washington, DC and New Orleans.

In 1842, The Mississippi Legislature created Harrison County which diminished the land mass of Hancock County. The citizens of this new Harrison County had attempted to move the county seat of Hancock County to a more central location such as Mississippi City (Gulfport), but the folks in Pearlington and the Pearl River Valley refused to negotiate about the location of the county seat. This intransience was responsible for the small size of modern-day Hancock

Conservation Corner: MANAGING MISSISSIPPI FARM PONDS

Mississippi has approximately 250,000 acres of farm ponds ranging in size from .25 to 5 acres. There are approximately 150,000 acres of small lakes that are as much as 40 acres in size.

Because of inadequate planning, poor construction, or a lack of management, many farm ponds in Mississippi do not produce the amount of fish desired by the owner, or more importantly the owner’s grandkids.

A quality farm pond depends on location, design, construction, habitat development, the proper stocking, and weed control. Many times, farm ponds in Mississippi can produce 5 to 10 times more pounds of fish than they currently produce if they are managed for a quality fisheries resource.

Management is of great concern. Almost all ponds, except those in the extremely productive parts of Mississippi, such as the Delta, need to be limed and fertilized.

Most ponds are over-fished for bass. This is the most common problem in farm pond management. When this occurs, bass cannot control bream and the bream become overpopulated. As a result, the bream will be stunted. This can reduce or even stop bass reproduction.

Once your pond is under proper management, to aid in catching fish, fish structure can greatly increase harvest. Structure can be in the form of trees, such as blackjack oak or old Christmas trees, drop-offs, or logs.

Structure can be made of various designs. For example, one proven design consists of three or four full trees that are crossed to form a pyramid. The bases of the trees should be braced together using 4 to 6 feet long pieces of lumber. Holes should be driven through the base of the trees and the weights should be attached using #12 UF cable. The structures will stand upright on the bottom and have a height between 10 and 16 feet.

Spawning beds for bream are also useful for catching fish. Spawning beds are made by covering portions of the pond with gravel to create areas desired by bream. They should be located in 2 to 4 feet of water that are convenient for fishing. Use 3 to 5 cubic yards of washed gravel and place so that a spawning site approximately 12 to 15 feet in diameter is created. One should avoid sites that have a sedimentation problem.

Harvest of this surplus of fish due to the increase in structure will not affect reproductive potential but should result in increased growth and condition of fish and a positive response to the increased carrying capacity.

Once you have all the ingredients in the formula for fishing success—good location, design, construction, the proper stocking rate, and management—it is time to carry those grandkids fishing and introduce them to something they will remember forever. A farm pond bank is a much better place to be than on the streets of a city.

Religious Exemptions for Immunizations now being offered

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) began offering religious exemptions on Monday, July 17, 2023, in addition to the existing medical exemption process in compliance with the federal court order entered in April 2023. Detailed information is now available on our website along with the proper forms to be completed and a statement from the Board of Health. “MSDH stands with the Board of Health in support of the current School Vaccination Law which has protected our children for over 40 years,” said State Health Officer, Dr. Daniel Edney.

MSDH issues medical exemptions when a Mississippi licensed pediatrician, family physician or internist completes the exemption form (Form 139-M) and submits it to the State Epidemiologist for review. For a religious exemption, a parent or guardian will schedule an appointment at a county health department (HD) and submit Form 139-R (available on the MSDH website and at HD locations). During the appointment, the parent or guardian will be required to watch a Vaccine Education Video and will have an opportunity to ask questions. HD staff will complete the Form 139-R and submit the completed form to the State Epidemiologist for review. The State Epidemiologist will approve and issue exemptions when parents or guardians (religious) or physicians (medical) complete the required process and request form. The Form 122 providing documentation of the exemption will be provided to the parent or guardian, the physician (if applicable), and the school if that information is provided on the form. In each exemption process, the parent or guardian will be informed of any vaccine-preventable diseases for which the child has not been adequately immunized and current outbreaks that may prevent the child from attending daycare or school. “Because of our long-existing and strong immunizations program, Mississippi has not recorded a measles case since 1992 even as other states have seen cases and outbreaks in recent years,” states Interim State Epidemiologist Dr. Kathryn Taylor. “MSDH urges parents to carefully consider the importance of vaccinating our children and continues to encourage all individuals to remain up to date on all vaccinations unless medically contraindicated.” Follow MSDH by email and social media at HealthyMS.com/connect.

litigation and repository of all deeds and records). The first courthouse building of any gravitas was constructed on Main Street in Shieldsboro in 1874 at a cost of $6,000 according to an article in the “Sea Coast Echo” on May 20, 1893. It was a two-story frame building located on the site of the present-day courthouse. Offices were on the ground floor, while court, jury, and consultation rooms were upstairs. The county records were made secure by the inclusion of steel safes and fireproof vaults. It was considered the most attractive county courthouse in the State of Mississippi. Nevertheless, by 1910 the Hancock County Board of Supervisors under the leadership of Horatio Stephen Weston decided to build a new courthouse at the same location as the aforementioned one built in 1874. According to a historical account by Jim Pfeiffer entitled “History of the Hancock County Courthouse” architects Keenan and Weiss designed a magnificent Greek Revival edifice that was in good taste and is enhanced by age. The Neo-Classical Revival architecture with a stucco façade gives the building an imposing presence at 150 Main Street. Listed as #376 in the National Registry of Historical Places, this proud courthouse has weathered Hurricanes Camille and Katrina-damaged but unbowed according to Eddie Coleman in his thoughtful article “The County Seats of Hancock County.”

The success of a government depends on creative adaptation to changing times and needs of its inhabitants and their businesses. Our agrarian economy at the turn of the Nineteenth Century morphed in two hundred years to a vibrant industrial/service sector/information technology (IT) one by the Twenty-first Century. The ideal location for a county seat or a county courthouse is not always the geographical center of its land mass, but more often the core of its commercial hub.

ANGEL MARIE SCARABIN ZIMMERMAN

On Friday July 14, 2023, our treasured wife, mother, sister, and friend, Angel Marie Scarabin Zimmerman (65), of Bay St. Louis was called home to the Lord. Angel was a dedicated wife to her husband William “Buddy” Zimmerman and mother to Angela, Marlon, Bonnie, Jamison, Gracie, Carie, and Kellie. As a devout Christian and member of St. Clare Catholic Church, Angel spent many hours every day studying her bible and reflecting on the grace and love of our Lord.

Born in Louisiana on December 31, 1957, Angel spent her life sharing with anyone who would listen to the adventures of her and her six sisters growing up on the river and bayous of Venice, La. The love of family learned during those years continued with her throughout her life. In the late 1980s, she moved to Bay St. Louis, MS where she later met her husband of 30 years. Over the years, she and Buddy built a beautiful life together where they blended their five children into one family, adopted two children together, and opened their loving home to Bosha, Katie, and Kayla as well as 23 other foster children. In addition to visiting with her beloved sisters and large extended family as often as possible, Angel reveled in meticulousity cared for her yard, cooking amazing food for her loved ones, and sharing the message of her Savior, Jesus Christ. One of the last messages she sent was from John 14:27, “Peace I leave you, my peace I give you...Do not let your hearts be troubled and do not be afraid.”

Angel was preceded in death by her grandparents Henry and Hilda Buras and George and Angelica Scarabin, her parents Cyril and Merle Scarabin, brother George “Christopher” Scarabin, sister Priscilla Copous, son-in-law Brad Helsel, brothers-in-law Vernon Copous, Rodney Hingle, and Ernie Zimmerman, and sister-in-law Colette Schindler.

Our beautiful Angel is survived by her husband Buddy Zimmerman; children Angela Helsel, Marlon Jackson, Bonnie Jackson, Jamison Zimmerman, Gracie Zimmerman, Carie Russo, and Kellie Gunn (Joel); grandchildren Gabriele (Nick), Caleb, Ariane (Jacob), Kayla, Kevin, Adin, Gabriel, Chance, Tony, Cayce, William, and Tyler; great-grandchildren Silas, Kaden, and Luca; sisters Darleen Ennis (Allen), Dianne Hingle, Charlene Barrois (Thomas), Isadora

Simoneaux (Gary), and Annette Landry (Larry); brother-in-law John Zimmerman (Mary Lou) and sister-in-law Mary Alice Burch (Sammy); and many other nieces and nephews.

The family would like to thank all of her doctors, nurses, and caregivers that were by our side during this difficult time, especially her niece Tina who made sure the family was fed and had everything they needed and nieces Brandi and Rebecca for their diligent care of our Angel in her final days.

A Funeral Mass was held on Wednesday, July 19, 2023 at St. Clare Catholic Church (236 S Beach Blvd. Waveland, MS) at 12:00 pm. Visitation was from 10:00-12:00. After mass, a celebration of life was held at the Zimmerman home in Bay St. Louis.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home was honored to serve the family of Angel Scarabin Zimmerman.

eled across the country to the Sridhar Family. On a completely voluntary basis, the family trained, loved, and cared for Remi for the next 18 months.”

Remi was dropped off for advanced training in 2019 before the COVID-19 pandemic. In August 2020, Strawhorn traveled to Orlando to attend Team Training with three other individuals/teams hoping for assistance dogs. Remi was one of the many dogs that Strawhorn said she “was privileged to train alongside,” and by Naomi’s special request, Canine Companions agreed to place Remi with her to serve in Hancock County as the state’s only Courthouse Facility Dog. Since being placed with Strawhorn on Aug. 6, 2020, Remi has served dozens of child victims of abuse/neglect for hundreds of hours of direct service in courtrooms, forensic interviews, juvenile detention, and residential facilities.

“She was my very first puppy dog,” Sridhar Ramalingam said. “I never had dogs growing up, (my wife) did.”

Now, he has his second dog, which he and his family are also training at their home in Ponte Vedra, Fla., to be another courthouse companion.

“We are very much privileged to know all wonderful people,” Chitra Sridhar said. “Thank you all so much for being there for Remi, and she is such a sweetheart, and we all miss her a lot but are proud for raising her.”

“I’m glad you all were able to have this moment,” Youth Court Judge Trent Favre said. “It’s something I’ll never forget.”

“We are forever grateful to the Ramalingam family for volunteering to raise Remi for the first year and half of her life,” Chauvin said. “Watching them reconnect with Remi and being able to show them the impact of her work with Naomi was an incredible experience for me to witness.”

Hancock County Library Foundation set to host Weekend Book Sale

SEA COAST ECHO

A popular annual event before the days of COVID returns when the Hancock County Library System -- through its fundraising arm, the Hancock County Library Foundation -- conducts a three-day “Books and More! Sale” from Friday, July 21 through Sunday, July 23, 2023 at the Bay St. Louis Library Branch, 312 Highway 90, in Bay St. Louis. The event, which will be staffed by volunteer members of the library foundation Board of Directors, will run from 10:00 AM until 5:00 PM each day.

President of the Board of Directors of the Hancock County Library Foundation, Dr. Sherry Ponder, emphasized that the funds raised from the 3-day “Books & More! Sale” will be used to support the library’s family and educational programming. She stated that persons interested in assisting by volunteering during the weekend event should contact the Bay St. Louis Library Branch at tel. 228-467-5282.

In addition to the collection of gently used fiction and non-fiction books for sale, other items available include: cookbooks, audio books, graphic novels, children’s books, DVDs, Music CDs, videos, games, puzzles, and many other items. More information can be found online through the HCLS website: <https://hcls.info>.

Executive director for the Hancock County Library System (HCLS), John Brdecka, stated that funds raised from the sale will go directly to the foundation which exists to benefit, support, and enhance the programming, services, and facilities of the county-wide library system. Because the HCLS is principally funded through tax dollars from local government, much of the library’s funding comes with restrictions and limitations regarding the legally allowable uses. In contrast, the Library Foundation, a 501 c 3 organization, provides a source for funding which enables the library with its five local branches to offer a variety of special programs and projects that enrich lifelong learning, and help build public/private initiatives. The library foundation strives to enhance the overall quality of life of Hancock County and inspire community interest and involvement through the library’s many programs.

Meaning in Life

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. Gerald Richardson, D. MIN.

There has rarely been a time in human history when trouble of some kind did not occupy the attention of people. The challenge may be individual personality, or sometimes the issue may be corporate in nature and involve multiple personalities and circumstances.

The current time in which we live is no exception. Across many years of counseling and pastoral ministry, it would be hard to name a time when we have faced more complexity, discord, uncertainty, and confusion. Not surprisingly, these realities are accompanied by a significant level of despair, and sometimes, clinical depression. Long friendships are disrupted. Some families are challenged to the point of estrangement. Many of our youth worry about an uncertain future, and they often wonder if their lives hold the promise for which they long. Safety from violence is a continuing concern.

Numerous issues contribute to the lack of contentment which haunts us. They include stark differences in social, political, and religious perspectives. Concern over climate change ranges from doubt that it exists to serious reflection on ways to mitigate it. Family breakdowns are all too common, and they always bring with them pain so deep that recovery is feared impossible. Add to all this the harsh consequences of situations like Covid 19 which cost millions of lives and created distrust, to the extent that many people called it a hoax. Other circumstances, both personal and communal, have left us with a level of despair which can sometimes feel unspeakable. We may wonder if hope is gone. It would be dishonest to declare that there are easy answers. There are attitudes and practices which hold the potential to guide us, even in times like these.

Meditation can be helpful. This is mysterious to many people, but it does not have to be. It simply involves learning to be still and quiet in our spirits for a period of time. It may include traditional prayer, but it is more than that. Some of us have learned to think of it as “deep listening”. This can be nothing more than spending time in silence, and allowing our inner spirit to catch up with our hectic and troubled lives. It can include offering thoughts and prayers toward those with whom we have problems. Mostly, it is just a matter of inviting whatever spiritual truth we hold to speak grace to our lives.

Engaging in at least one trusted relationship is another path to peaceful living. If we are willing to invest some time into it, there can be insights which might astound us. Even those of us who are natural introverts will benefit from such an experience.

Of course, the main thing is in wanting to find help. It can be tempting to wallow in our misery to the extent that we start to believe that it is where we belong and what we deserve. That is simply not true. Life can be rich and good, even amid challenges. Many have discovered this truth. It is worth the effort

MEET HINDI!

This adorable girl is an 18 month old petite Pittie, weighing just 34 pounds. She is athletic, smart, vivacious, and a loving, sweet pup. She could join any family dynamic and be a shining star! Hindi came in as a stray, but she seems to have belonged to a family very recently. She keeps her kennel clean and potties immediately upon being walked. She is very well socialized and likes meeting new friends, both human and canine. She loves romping-n-playing in our exercise yard with her doggie pals, so she could easily join a home with another friendly dog or two. A group of students from the local middle school volunteered recently, and she had a blast! This happy pup will bring lots of fun and joy to her new family. Come meet this sweet pup during our visiting hours Mon, Wed-Fri 10am-3:30pm and Tues 1:30pm-3:30pm, or you may call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment. Please bring your kids and dog(s) along for the visit to ensure compatibility.

Local artists, groups earn MAC grants

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Arts Commission (MAC) is investing over $1.75 million through grants in more than 337 organizations, schools, and individual artists across the state for the fiscal year 2024. The agency received an increase in funding, which allowed the agency to fund more grants for the new fiscal year.

“With the additional funds provided to MAC this fiscal year, we are able to fund 37 more grants that are providing an economic impact for Mississippi communities, the arts, and education throughout the state,” said David Lewis, executive director for the Mississippi Arts Commission. “We are grateful for the support from the Mississippi Legislature and elected officials who helped prioritize the arts in Mississippi.”

MAC’s annual grant funds come from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Mississippi State Legislature. Awards were made in 104 Mississippi House of Representatives districts and 60 state Senate districts.

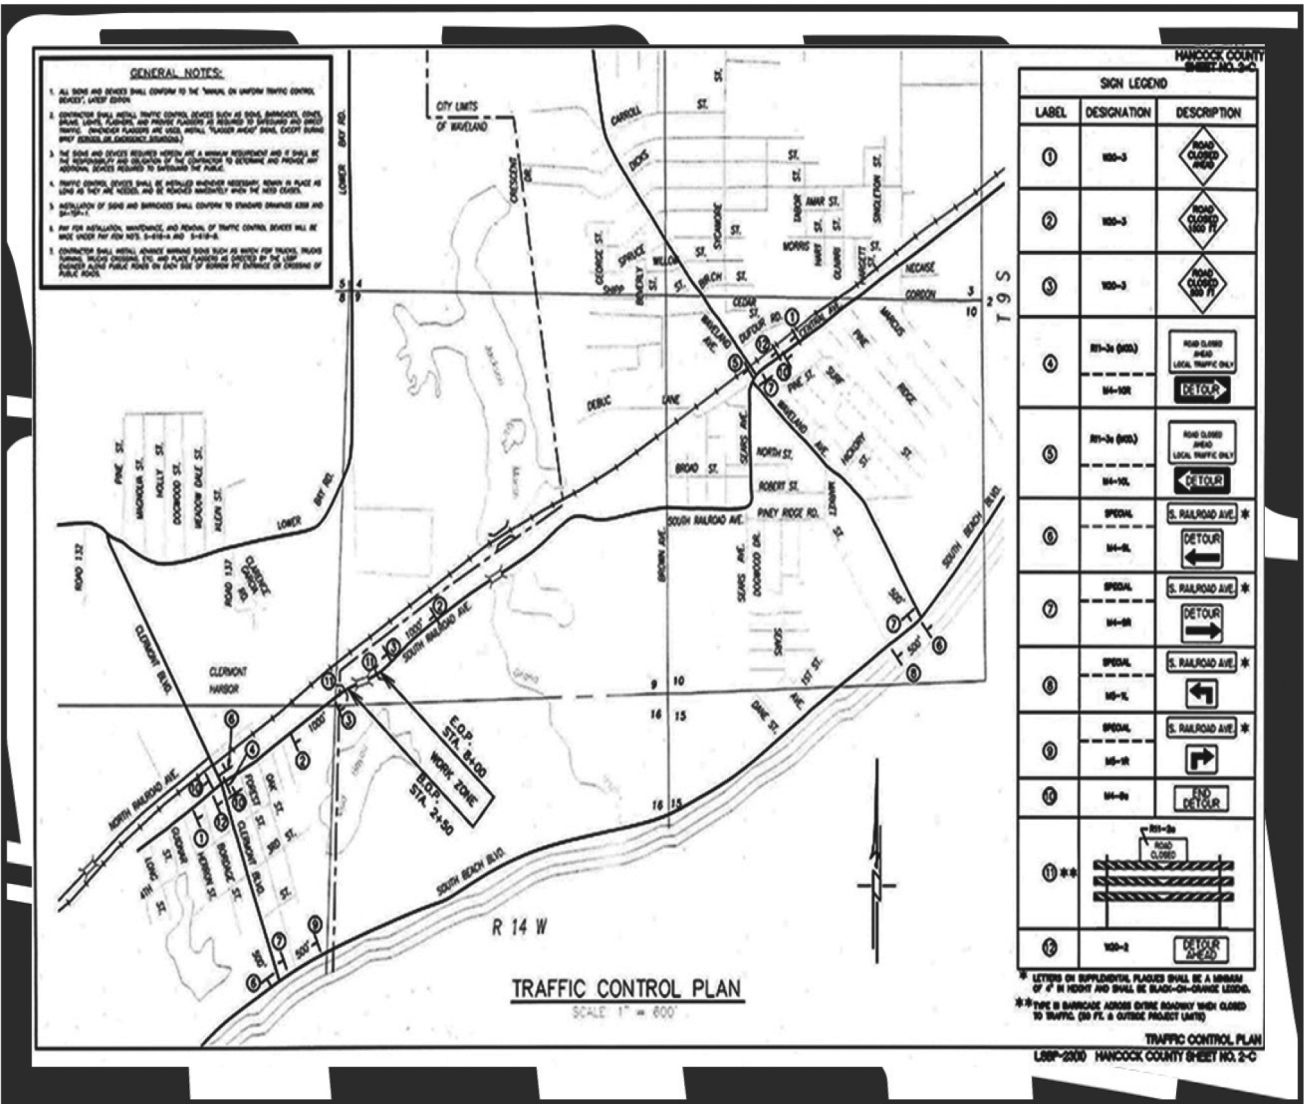

The awards include:

- General Operating Support for 66 arts organizations.
- Project Support for 75 arts and community-based organizations across Mississippi to foster the continuation of the state’s folk and traditional art forms, support performances and arts programming, and strengthen education in and through the arts.
- Project Support for 20 individual artists to support innovation, propel artists’ careers, and encourage collaboration between artists and communities.
- Artist Fellowship awards to 39 individual artists across artistic disciplines who demonstrate the ability to create exemplary work in their chosen field.
- Mini-Grants to 69 individual artists to support their professional development and 15 arts and community-based organizations to support arts programming and institutional strategic development.

In addition to making direct grants, MAC accepted 24 schools into its Mississippi Whole Schools Initiative , which provides PreK-12 educators with intensive professional development for integrating the arts across the curriculum.

MAC also approved 18 artists and performing groups for inclusion in its Artist Roster and Teaching Artist Roster, which features many of the best artists and arts educators in the state. The Artist Roster is updated annually in the fall on MAC’s website.

“MAC is dedicated to fostering creativity that enhances the quality of life and supports economic opportunities in Mississippi communities through statewide investment in the arts,” said Marie Sanderson, board chair for MAC. “This year’s increase in funding by the Mississippi Legislature will allow MAC to continue to promote the rich artistic culture of our state and the role it plays from education to the economy.”

Powerful animal sedative now part of drug mix

There’s a new threat on Mississippi streets and its ef-fects far outweigh anything seen before.

Xylazine, a potent large ani-mal sedative approved for veter-inary use some 50 years ago, is now part of the state’s illicit drug mix and is often being added to fentanyl. Also known as tranq or tranq dope, it is frequently called the “zombie drug” because of what it does to the human body.

Potent enough to knock peo-ple out for hours, xylazine re-duces blood circulation, slows breathing and leaves horrific, open sores on the skin that, if left untreated, can lead to ne-crosis and amputation. What’s worse, it doesn’t respond to opioid-reversing medications, leaving users more likely to die before traditional CPR can be administered.

“Xylazine makes fentanyl

even more dangerous than it already is,” said Col. Steven Maxwell, director of the Mis-sissippi Bureau of Narcotics. “This drug is a serious threat to Mississippians and requires an aggressive response.”

Because of this, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Admin-istration, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, emer-gency medicine doctors and other health care professionals are issuing warnings about the sharp increase in the traffick-ing of fentanyl mixed with xylazine and the dangers to communities across the coun-try.

Here in Mississippi, the Mississippi State Department of Health issued an official health alert to all physicians, hospitals, emergency rooms and other health care providers in late May regarding clinical management considerations and patient care. Experts still recommend administering nal-oxone if someone might be suffering from an opioid over-dose, but also keeping a CPR mask with them at all times should rescue breaths be need-ed.

The number of xyla-zine-positive fatal overdoses increased in the Southern U.S. by 1,127% between 2020 and 2021, according to an October 2022 DEA report. Further, the DEA noted that the South also saw a 193% increase in xyla-zine detection among illicit drugs tested during this same timeframe. Both represent the highest increases across all U.S. regions.

“Mississippians are al-ready dying from these toxic xylazine combinations,” said Maxwell. “While we may not have the sheer numbers like Atlanta, Philadelphia or other larger metropolitan areas, it is here and it is on our streets. It’s affecting our families, friends and neighbors at a time when overdose deaths continue to reach record highs. We must act now to save lives.”

Bipartisan legislation known as the Combating Il-llicit Xylazine Act has been in-troduced in Congress to make xylazine a federally controlled substance. If passed, this will enable authorities to arrest those illegally possessing or trafficking it. Some states are following and applauding this push.

“We realize veteri-narians have been using this drug responsibly for years and need it in their practices,” said Maxwell, “but we’ve got to find a way to allow them to continue using it while ensur-ing that the DEA and local law enforcement have the support they need to keep it out of the wrong hands.”

The American Veterinary Medical Association supports the congressional effort.

Make Mississippi ODFree is a multiagency statewide partnership focused on over-dose data collection and over-dose prevention and inter-vention. Administered by the Mississippi State Department of Health in partnership with the Mississippi Public Health Institute, the program is sup-ported by a federal grant initia-tive funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Preven-tion. The program’s purpose, called Overdose Data to Ac-tion (OD2A), is to collect com-prehensive and timely data on nonfatal and fatal overdoses to inform OD prevention and re-sponse efforts nationwide.

Hancock Chamber to host midyear meeting, “Business over Brunch” on July 20th

STATE OF THE COUNTY AND PORT & HARBOR ARE FEATURED KEYNOTE PRESENTATIONS

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock Cham-ber of Commerce will host its annual Mid-year Meeting on Thurs-day, July 20th at Hol-lywood Casino - Gulf Coast. Billed as the yearly “Business Over Brunch,” this event cele-brates the good work go-ing on in Hancock Coun-ty through a high-energy jazz brunch, featuring live music by Holly’s Dad’s Jazz Band.

In addition to re-ports from the Hancock Chamber and Hancock County Community Development Founda-tion, attendees will also receive a State of the County Address by the President of the Board of Supervisors, Scotty Adam and the CEO of the Port & Harbor Commis-sion, Blaine LaFontaine. Reports are expected to highlight major accom-plishments and current projects spear-headed by all of these four partners in economic develop-ment.

The Midyear Meet-ing is the ideal forum to learn about the work of these governmental entities and non-profit organizations. At 98 years old, the Hancock Chamber is the largest and oldest business or-ganization in Hancock County. Its mission is to promote economic, social and civic well-be-ing of the County, which it does through a robust program of work includ-ing over 150 meetings and events, 7 committees, professional devel-opment programming and the management of two additional nonprofit organizations: Partners for Stennis & Michoud and the Hancock Coun-ty Community Develop-ment Foundation. The Chamber will provide an annual report at this meeting, highlighting their new website with enhanced marketing fea-tures for members. The Hancock County Com-munity Development Foundation will an-nounce two grants: one received that will sup-port the new Business Resource Center and one program that will be in-troduced soon to support facade improvements along the Highway 90 corridor.

“There is so much momentum growing in Hancock County’s econ-omy,” said Tish Wil-liams, Hancock Cham-ber Executive Director. “It’s exciting to watch the growth and progress, which gives all of us a great deal of pride. We invite all who want to be a part of these efforts to join us to learn more about specific projects and opportunities that will significantly con-tribute to job growth and business retention and expansion in our coun-ty.”

The highlight of Busi-ness Over Brunch is the presentation of the Jody Compretta Person of Passion Award, which honors one outstanding member of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce who has gone above and beyond the call of duty to contribute to Hancock County’s economic, so-cial and civic well-be-ing. The recipient of this year’s award will be re-vealed at the conclusion of the meeting.

Seats and sponsor-ships can be reserved online at <http://hancock-chamber.org>. Admis-sion is $35 for Chamber members and $45 for guests. Doors open at 11 a.m. with mimosas and networking and live mu-sic. The buffet will be-gin at 11:30 a.m. and the program begins at noon.

CASA hosted its tenth annual Poker Run on Saturday, July 15 at Dan B Murphy's Restaurant & Bar on the beach. More than 200 poker hands were played and the afternoon included a live auction, raffles and a 50/50. The winners of the poker run were: 1st Place: Gianna West, 2nd Place: Lisa Smolke, and 3rd Place Stephanie Ladner. A huge thank you goes out to all of our sponsors, CASA Director Cynthia Chauvin said, especially, Parker Contracting and Lindsey Lind, with Coldwell Banker Alfonso Realty who served as our title sponsors. At the conclusion of the poker run CASA held a private party to announce the 2024 Krewe of CASA King and Queen. Waveland business owner, Lewis Warrana and his wife

Lewis and Alisha Warran, CASA of Hancock County's king and queen for the 2024 Mardi Gras season.

Alisha Warran will reign this coming year over the CASA carnival season. Alisha was sworn in as a CASA advocate in 2018 and has advocated for 12 children since that time. Her advocacy in the courtroom is fierce but fair. She gets to know each of the children she advocates for and her recommendations are taken seriously by the Youth Court and by CPS. Outside of her advocacy on her cases, Alisha has made herself available to help the program in numerous other ways. Be it securing donations, volunteering at events, working booths to raise awareness, coordinating continuing education training for other volunteers, she is just all in. This husband and wife duo is certainly a team. Since 2018, Lewis has been by her side supporting her as an advocate and volunteering for CASA projects without hesitation. They have generously donated at all of our fundraisers and have put in incredible amounts of sweat equity behind the scenes making the annual gala a success each year. The Krewe of CASA Mardi Gala is already set. Mark your calendars for Saturday, January 6, 2024.

Summer off to an even muggier start than usual

BY SKIP RIGNEY
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

If it seems even muggier than usual, it's not your imagination. This July is off to the most humid start in 25 years in coastal Mississippi, and weather observations of dew point temperature from the official stations at the airports in Slidell and Gulfport indicate that June and the first two weeks of July 2023 rank in the top three muggiest starts to summer in the last 25 years along with 2010 and 1998. Dew point varies with how much water vapor, an invisible gas, there is in the air along with the other usual components of nitrogen, oxygen, and carbon dioxide. The higher the dew point, the more water vapor is present. When the air temperature cools down to the dew point, the invisible water vapor begins to condense into droplets as either dew or fog. The process of evaporation, which turns liquid water into water vapor, transfers energy from the surrounding environment and stores it in the water vapor. The result is that evaporation cools the surrounding environment. That's how perspiration works to cool our bodies through the process of evaporating sweat from our skin, and thus cooling us down. When the air is dry and dew point temperatures are in the 50s or lower, sweat quickly evaporates from our skin and our bodies can quickly cool off, even when we are creating extra heat by exercising. But as the amount of water vapor in the air increases, as indicated by dew points in the 60s and 70s, the more slowly sweat evaporates. The result is not only that sticky feeling well known to every resident of the Deep South, but also the increased potential for our bodies to overheat. Dew points along the northern Gulf Coast have been in the 70s since mid-

June. Even more striking have been the number of days (14 in Gulfport and 16 in Slidell) that dew points have climbed into the oppressive 80-82 degree range. Some days that sauna-level humidity has only lasted for an hour or two. Other days, such as Thursday, the dew point was 80 degrees or higher for over 12 hours. Even for a traditionally humid region such as ours, this takes mugginess to a different level. There are probably multiple reasons for this summer's unusually humid weather, but one definite contributing factor is the Gulf of Mexico. The warm sea surface temperatures in the Gulf, which are always in the 80s in July, are actually one to three degrees warmer than average this summer. Warmer waters cause more water vapor to evaporate into the atmosphere, and that water vapor ends up drifting over the adjoining coastal regions. At least northern Gulf waters are not experiencing the record marine heat wave that is underway near the Florida Keys and along the southwest Florida coast. Surface water temperatures soared into the middle 90s in that part of the Gulf earlier this week. While such hot sea surface temperatures definitely increase atmospheric moisture, they can also provide extra fuel for any hurricanes in the Gulf later this summer.

Estelle Sevener fished with me about this time last year. We had a great day and caught plenty of fish. However, right at the end of our trip, she hooked a gigantic Jack Crevalle. The fish was hooked on light tackle, and she went around the boat for close to 45 minutes, battling that monster. She did everything right, except we brought a knife to a gun fight. The fish broke off as we were trying to net it. Rightfully so, she was very distraught and it was a tough way to end such an amazing trip. Sad to say the big Jack beat her that day.

This year's trip was very very different. Estelle and her father Steve joined me for an incredible day on the water. I think on Steve's second cast, he hooked another huge Jack Crevalle. He immediately passed the rod to Estelle, and she was like a young lady possessed. The big Jack did not stand a chance. She was bigger and stronger this year, and whooped that fish in probably 10 minutes. It was a great way to start the trip, but there was way more to come.

Once we released the big Jack, and caught some very nice speckled trout, I asked Estelle what she wanted to do next? Without hesitation, she said, "I want to catch a big shark". Steve gave the nod to break out the big rods. Estelle caught us a lady fish for bait, and minutes later, she was hooked up to a huge bull shark. Once again, Estelle made quick work of that shark. We took our pictures, released the shark, and then I asked what now? Neither one of them had ever caught a bull red, so off we went. We caught a few small white trout for bait, and put out the big rods in a deep channel. Luckily, the Pogies(baitfish) were pushing through in massive schools, and the huge bull red fish were all around them. We even had fish on the surface, circling the boat!

and physical exhaustion got the better of them. We pointed the boat North, and headed back to Bayou Caddy.

They had a good many speckled trout to eat, along with plenty of big fish stories to tell. I was very proud to see Estelle land the big Jack, Shark, and numerous bull reds. This year, she definitely settled the score. Way to go young lady!!!

DWGAN Golfing News

FROM JUNE OF 2023

BY SHIRLEY HALTERMAN

By the time this article appears in print I certainly hope the temperatures have moderated a bit. The current high temperatures are causing some of our gals to rethink coming out to play.

On Tuesday, June 6th, we played a Scramble Free Throw format. 19 gals signed up to play this format. In a Scramble/Free Throw game all team members hit the ball and the team chooses the best ball. Each team member then hits from this location and so it goes for all nine holes. Concerning the Free Throw, each team can pick up their ball and throw it without penalty and without counting that stroke. This can be done one time per hole. Once the team has decided to use their "free throw" all the players on that team must use the free throw. For example: if you are behind a tree, you can pick up the ball and throw it onto the fairway. If you are in a sand trap, either in the fairway or green side bunker, you can pick up the ball and throw it down the fairway or towards the pin. If you choose to use this when you are on the green you can roll the ball towards the hole. If you are in a position where you would normally take a drop and add a penalty stroke, go ahead and take the drop but do not add the penalty stroke. Following are the winners of this round. Hats off to the team of Sharon Gerchow, Sue Herbert, Audrey Ramirez and Pat VanDervort for grossing 29 (a net of 22) for the round and achieving 7 birdies and 2 pars. Needless to say, they took First Place while Second Place went to the team of Nancy Barker, Pattie Blackwood, Therese Maurterer and Janice Murray. Third place was interesting with a tie between Judy Tauzin's team and Tracey Garriga's team, both scoring a gross of 33. Comparing the last 6 holes, both teams had grossed 21, still a tie. Comparing the last 3 holes they still were in a tie. It was the 9th hole that eventually broke the tie with Tauzin's team scoring a Birdie while Tracey's team came in with a Par. Therefore, Third place honors go to Ruth Holmes, Mary Craig Murray, Ruthie O'Neill and Judy Tauzin. Always fun when it is a close race.

Our usual Trophy Day

was held on Tuesday, June 13th, a week later than we usually play this format. The game was played on the friendly Front 9 of the Cardinal course. Fifteen brave souls came out to play in the tremendous heat. And the June Trophy Day winners were: Flight 1 winners - 1st Place = Tammy Lippon and 2nd Place = Nancy Sislow. In Flight 2 the winners were: 1st Place = Ruth Holmes, and in 2nd Place = Mary Murray. Flight 3 winners - 1st Place = Pattie Blackwood and 2nd Place = Pauline Singer. In the Lowest Putts Competition, Tammy Lippon took first place in Flight 1 with only 15 putts while in Flight 2 Susie Fontenot took the honors with 17 putts. Pauline Singer scored the honors in Flight 3 with only 12 putts. Great putting gals! As to the Closest-to-the-Pin challenge, Pat VanDervort came closest to the pin on Hole 4, while Tammy Lippon did it on Hole 7 and, Brigitte Becker (on her second shot) on hole 4 and Kathy Jones (on her second shot) on hole 7 shared the honors. Meanwhile, Pat VanDervort had a Birdie on Hole 4.

Tuesday, June 20th, was supposed to be Five Clubs + a Putter. However, Mother Nature had different ideas and after several holes our 17 brave souls had to leave the course due to lightning in the area.

On the final Tuesday of the month, June 27th, we once again attempted to play the Five Clubs + a Putter game that we tried to play before the weather interrupted us. As only 15 gals ventured out to play the back 9 of the Cardinal Course, we only fielded two flights. Flight 1 Winners: 1st Place = Margaret Sherwood, 2nd Place = Judy Tauzin, and 3rd Place = Nancy Sislow. Flight 2 Winners: 1st Place = Mary Mizell, 2nd Place = Janice Murray and 3rd Place (in a scorecard playoff) = Nancy Baker.

I guess we are beginning to see who the stalwarts are and who the fair weather golfers are in our group. Praying for some cooler, less humid, weather we will provide stats on our July adventures and encourage you to join us in the pursuit of the little white ball down the green fairway.

START PREPARING FOR SCHOOL NOW

After a summer of relaxation, the start of a new school year generates mixed emotions among students. Many children look forward to being back on campus with their friends but may not revel in the idea of waking up early or doing homework each night. While summer break is a much needed-respite from the rigors of school, it doesn't mean school should be forgotten entirely. In fact, doing some preparatory steps before a new school year begins can make the year go much more smoothly. Here's how students and parents can direct their focus during the final countdown.

KEEP READING

According to Scholastic, summer slide is a concept that was first acknowledged by researchers in 1996. Many comprehensive studies have come out since then and indicated that kids lose significant knowledge in reading and math over summer break, which can have a cumulative effect and lead to skill loss each year. Some research says up to 20 percent of school year gains in reading and 27 percent in math are lost during summer break. Children should be encouraged to read as much as possible during summer break, particularly since many schools require summer reading and subsequent essays or book reports upon returning to the classroom. Let kids read what they want, whether it's comics, magazines, the newspaper, or even books they've read before.

ACCUMULATE SUPPLIES

School may not be on the radar early in summer, but it's wise to purchase supplies early. Right before school starts there is a mad dash to grab notebooks, pens, clothing, and more, which can make for a stressful shopping experience for all involved. Shopping early helps families avoid that outcome.

BRUSH UP ON MATH SKILLS

It can't hurt for students to do a few math problems over the summer. Practice keeps skills fresh and any mathematical formulas prominent in their minds. All it takes is one or two problems per day to stay on top of math skills.

VISIT EDUCATIONAL ATTRACTIONS

Families can include museums, art exhibits, animal sanctuaries, libraries, science centers, and similar attractions in the list of places they visit over the summer. This way students can learn and be entertained simultaneously.

START ENFORCING BEDTIMES

School-aged children (six to 13 years) need nine to 12 hours of sleep every night, according to KidsHealth.org. During the summer, late nights can easily be rectified by sleeping in the next day. But when school resumes, the alarm clock will be ringing earlier than expected. Parents can gradually implement earlier bedtimes as summer winds down so that kids are getting the rest they will need.

GET IN THE KNOW

Parents can begin to pay closer attention to emails and social media posts from schools as they'll likely contain information about upcoming school calendars, bus routes (or transportation registration), changes in personnel, or any additional updates. This will help alleviate any surprises on the first day of school. Families can take several steps to get ready for school as the first day draws near.
